Note 1: The Lodge Original Finish 5CO was first produced sometime between January 1992 and December 1993. It was listed for the first time in their 1994 catalog. Sales volume was low because only those who cook in Camp Ovens and collectors were interested in the item, thus, it was discontinued in October 2000. The 5CO is a relatively hard to find item and seldom sells for less than $100 - $125 on Ebay. There was a special order of these Camp Ovens from the Japanese IDOS and it is unknown how many of them are in the United States. They are easily identified by the picture on the bottom. Although this item has been discontinued by Lodge as of the last word received it has not been placed on their permanently discontinued list and may be produced again at a later date.

Note 2: The Lodge 6CO was first offered in Catalog #11 in 2009 and is still offered today. This CO was never offered in the Original Finish.

Note 3: The Lodge L10DCO3 was a custom order for the Sportsman's Warehouse and not generally available elsewhere.

CUSTOM LIDS

With this series Lodge has offered five custom lids, The Lewis & Clark Corps of Discovery lid which was offered with a deep 12CO (L12DCO3LC)

during the years 2003-2008 and the BSA lid which was offered with the regular 12CO (L12CO3BS) and is still in production today. The L12CO3 for the Olympic Winter Games at Salt Lake during 2002. The International Dutch Oven Society (IDOS) lid for the 12" Dutch Oven was made in 1999. Lodge wanted to promote it in the newsletter and because of limited interested only approximately 125 were sold and the remainder of the lids were recycled into other cast iron products. Lodge also filled a special from the Sportsman's Warehouse in 2007 for a special of the 10DCO with some of them having their emblem on the lid and some having the normal labeling. There are still a few of these in stock at the various Sportsman's Warehouse Outlets, but they do not have a mail order service. So you must call to determine who still has them in stock.
